

SO YOU'RE A NEW WOLF/BEAR DEN LEADER

I SIGNED UP... WHAT'S NEXT??

Now that you have registered as a Cub Scout den leader, you will receive Scouting magazine, which includes Cub Scout Program Helps and other information to assist you as a leader. Ask your Cubmaster to furnish you a copy of the current Cub Scout Program Helps to use until your subscription begins. You should do these steps:

1. Complete Fast Start training for Cub Scout den leaders. Your pack leadership will facilitate this video/CD-ROM based training, or you can complete the training via the Internet (www.samhoustonbsa.org, follow the "Training" links).
2. Obtain (or borrow temporarily) the Cub Scout Leader Book and begin reading it. This book describes your role as a den leader and will give more information on the following steps.
3. Get acquainted with your Cubmaster and pack trainer. These leaders will see that you have the information and material you need to get started off on the right foot.
4. With the help of the pack trainer, assistant den leader, den chief (an older Boy Scout or Venturing helper), and Cub Scout Program Helps, plan your first month's den meetings. The key to success is "KISMIF" (keep it simple, make it fun).
5. Get acquainted with the families of the boys in your den. Hold a family orientation meeting. A recommended agenda is included in the Cub Scout Leader Book. You will be needing the families' help, so get to know them early.
6. Get acquainted with the boys in your den. Establish a den code of conduct so they will know what you expect of them. See the Cub Scout Leader Book for details.
7. Ask your Cubmaster to help secure a den chief, and give him meaningful responsibilities.
8. Obtain and begin wearing the Cub Scout leader uniform as soon as possible. It is attractive, comfortable, and suitable for all Cub Scout meetings and activities. Wearing the uniform properly is important in setting a good example for the boys. Your den leader coach or Cubmaster can tell you where to obtain the uniform and insignia.
9. Attend the monthly planning meetings held by your pack. This meeting is led by the pack committee chairman and Cubmaster, and it is where pack plans are made.
10. Attend the monthly district Cub Scout leaders' roundtable. You will receive many good program ideas on the monthly theme, and get acquainted with leaders from other packs who will share ideas and experiences with you. Your Cubmaster or pack trainer can tell you when and where the roundtable meets.
11. Attend Cub Scout leader basic training as soon as possible. There are two components to this training – New Leader Essentials, which is attended by leaders in all program areas, and Den Leader Specific Training, a specialized session to help you successfully plan a fun and exciting den program. These will give you the foundation you need to become an effective leader. Every boy deserves trained and qualified leaders. Your Cubmaster or pack trainer can give you information about training.

Don't hesitate to ask for help. There are many people who want to help you provide the finest possible Cub Scout experience for the boys in your den. (See the Welcome to Cub Scout Sheet for more contact information.)

By the time you have completed these steps, you will be well on your way to becoming a successful den leader.

YOU, THE DEN LEADER

You were selected as a den leader and approved by the pack committee because of your interest in boys. By making the commitment to serve as a den leader, you have accepted the following responsibilities:

- Give leadership to carrying out the pack program in the den.
- Lead the den in its participation at the monthly pack meeting.
- Work in harmony with the other den and pack leaders.
- Cooperate with the Cubmaster and pack committee in recruiting new boys.
- Help orient the den chief and guide him to work with the Cub Scouts.
- Use Scouting and Boys' Life magazines, Cub Scout Program Helps, and other Cub Scout literature as sources of program ideas.
- Collect dues and turn them in to the pack secretary/treasurer.
- Encourage boys to earn the advancement awards. Keep accurate records, and see that they receive recognition for their achievement.
- Help the den earn the National Den Award.

- Establish good working relationships with den families, utilizing their talents.
- Take part in the annual pack planning conference and the monthly pack leaders' planning meetings.
- Follow the policies of the Boy Scouts of America.

Your pack trainer or Cubmaster will be glad to explain any of these responsibilities that you do not understand.

All leaders bring to Cub Scouting their own talents and skills, their own backgrounds and interests. Your key to becoming an effective leader is to use your own abilities and interests, along with what you learn about Cub Scouting to plan and conduct the best possible program for the boys. What happens in the life of each boy during his formative years will determine to a great extent the kind of man he will become. What a tremendous opportunity and challenge for you, the den leader!

THE CUB SCOUT DEN MEETING

Den meetings are usually held in the afternoon, after school, or in the evening, once each week, in a home, church, or school. The meeting day and time is set by the den leader. It should be at the same time and place each week to prevent confusion. Den meetings last approximately one hour. Leadership responsibilities are shared by the den leader, assistant den leader, den chief, and denner (a selected member of your den).

The den meeting program includes the following:

1. Before the Meeting. The den leader, assistant den leader, and den chief make final preparations while the denner helps set up the meetings place.
2. While Cub Scouts Gather. The den chief or denner could teach a stunt, trick or game as the boys arrive, while the den leader and assistant den leader collect dues, and check achievements and electives.
3. Opening. Have a simple opening ceremony such as a song, yell, pledge to the flag, or uniform inspection.
4. Business Items. Den activities and plans are discussed. Announcements are made. Refreshments may be served at this time.
5. Activities. Games, tricks, handicrafts, or other activities related to the monthly theme. Preparation for the den's part in the pack meeting.
6. Closing. Reminders, den leaders' closing thought, brief inspirational closing ceremony.
7. After the Meeting. Den leader, assistant den leader, and den chiefs discuss plans for next week's meeting, while the denner puts the room back to order.

WHAT DO YOU INVEST IN CUB SCOUTING?

- One afternoon or evening each week for den meetings.
- One evening each month for the pack meeting.
- One evening each month for Cub Scout leaders' roundtable.
- One evening each month for a planning meeting with other pack leaders.
- Time spent in research and planning each month on such interesting subjects as Native Americans, Knights, Circus, or whatever the monthly theme might be.
- Cub Scout leader basic training.
- Cost of the Cub Scout leader uniform.
- The registration fee.

This is a small investment compared to the dividends you will receive. And of course, the more you invest, the more you can expect to receive in return.

WHAT DO YOU RECEIVE IN RETURN?

- One lively, never-dull afternoon or evening each week when you have the good fortune to view the world through the eyes of boys.
- An evening each month of fun and fellowship with pack families, sharing their pride in their sons' accomplishments.
- The privilege of helping to enrich and strengthen families.
- A sense of pride as you watch the Cub Scouts receive recognition for their accomplishments.
- An opportunity to share your ideas and experiences with other adults who share your interest and concern for boys.
- A chance to read about subjects that you haven't taken time for in years, and the opportunity to put your ideas into action at den meetings.
- The privilege of getting to know boys in your neighborhood a little better and watching them all grow strong in mind and body.
- The opportunity to help boys learn good citizenship and to help shape them into men who have strength of character and are sensitive to the needs of others.
- A knowledge that all boys are alike in many ways, and yet each one is a very special, unique individual.
- A chance to help stimulate boys' imaginations and to help them learn to "do their best."
- The satisfaction of being a member of a worldwide movement, and pride in being publicly identified as a part of this organization by wearing the uniform which is a visible means of showing you believe in and stand up for its ideals and objectives.
- And many other dividends that will enrich your life as you dedicate your time, talent, and enthusiasm to Cub Scouting.
